The National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine Action Collaborative on Preventing Sexual Harassment in Higher Education is hosting its first annual Public Summit on November 19 and 20, 2019, at the University of Washington. This Summit aims to identify and elevate promising practices for preventing sexual harassment in higher education. Through a combination of plenary sessions, panel discussions, and concurrent sessions, this event will serve as an opportunity for members of the Action Collaborative and the broader higher education community to gather information, engage in a dialogue, and gain diverse perspectives on how to effectively prevent sexual harassment. Four members of the Vanderbilt community—Professor Andrea Page-McCaw, Professor Arie Nettles, Project Safe Director Cara Tuttle-Bell, graduate student Mary Lauren Benton—will attend the event in person on behalf of Vanderbilt and VUMC.

To facilitate broader participation in the Summit, the Office for Inclusive Excellence and the Office of Faculty Affairs in the Office of the Provost at Vanderbilt University are hosting a satellite meeting on November 19 in The Commons Center. The satellite meeting will stream a webcast of the live Summit sessions in Seattle. During breaks in the webcast, Vanderbilt will host a presentation and discussion on the 2019 AAU Campus Climate Survey and the 2019 Faculty and Postdoctoral Fellow Sexual Harassment Surveys for the Vanderbilt Community. Refreshments, including lunch, will be provided. Registration is available at this link. Space is limited.
