Panel Discussion: STEM Education Careers

Cynthia Brame, PhD

Associate Director of the Vanderbilt
University Center for Teaching
Faculty, Biological Sciences

Cazembe Kennedy, PhD

Teaching Consultant at the Clemson Office of Teaching Effectiveness and Innovation
Interim Director of Digital Commons

Wednesday, Sept. 21
3:00- 4:00 PM
Six Magnolia, Room 019

This panel-style discussion includes Dr. Cynthia Brame and Dr. Cazembe Kennedy. They will discuss their perspectives on careers in the STEM Education space, how to identify careers in this area, how to showcase transferrable skills in the application process to land positions in STEM-focused resource centers and centers for teaching and learning, and will also give insights on resume building strategies for teaching/education-based careers (versus research-centered CVs).
