

Latinx EAG NEWSLETTER

March 13, 2023

Mission and Vision: The Latinx employee affinity group (EAG) provides enriching opportunities for faculty, post-docs, and staff at Vanderbilt that identify as Latina, Latino, Latinx, Latine, or Hispanic or have an interest in Latin culture to connect and share their experiences. This group promotes Latin cultural awareness and fellowship for those within the Latinx Vanderbilt community. Engagement will include academic-based discussions, social events, and activities for members and allies of the Latinx community.

What are we up to?

The Latinx EAG has several new and exciting developments:

- ⇒ We have started a volunteer directory on Microsoft Teams. This is a place to share where you are (or would like to) volunteer. We hope to organize a group volunteer activity soon! If interested, email: Amanda.Martinez-Lincoln@Vanderbilt.edu
- ⇒ We are creating playlist of our favorite music for Latinx EAG members to contribute to and enjoy! If you would like to add your favorite song to playlist email: Sara.lee.burd@vanderbilt.edu
- ⇒ We are hoping to launch a book club! If interested, email: Maria.Ornelas@Vanderbilt.edu
- ⇒ We are searching for new members to join the Latinx EAG Leadership group. Complete this form, if you are interested in serving in leadership!

Job Postings:

The Center for Latin American, Caribbean, and Latinx Studies (CLACX) is a vibrant interdisciplinary center that brings together faculty and students from across the university. We are hiring a Program Coordinator to lead our educational programs for teacher training, public institutions, and the Vanderbilt community.

On behalf of the Office for Equity, Diversity and Inclusion and the SomosVU Identity Initiative, we would like to cordially invite you to attend a networking mixer specifically for Latinx-identifying graduate and professional students! This event will be held on Thursday, March 23rd, from 5:30-7:30pm, in the Multicultural Community Space.

As graduate students, it can be hard to connect with students outside of your field of study; it can be even more challenging when trying to commiserate with other students with similar cultural backgrounds. This event aims to offer food and fellowship for our Latinx graduate student community at Vanderbilt. This event is casual and has no formal program, so anyone can come and go as their schedule allows.

RSVP form: <https://forms.microsoft.com/r/LrXWdxz2PR>.

Feel free to contact Hope Young with any questions or additional information.
