Medical Editors

Sarah Dobson, MSc
hello@sarahdobson.ca
www.sarahdobson.ca
Sarah Dobson is an editor, grant writer, and writing coach based in Vancouver, BC.

Sarah has an MSc in community health from the Université de Montréal. She has worked in research management and grant facilitation in academic institutions across Canada for more than a decade.

Donna Ingles, MS, MPH
donna.j.ingles@vumc.org
Donna has an MS degree in medicinal chemistry and an MPH in epidemiology and global communicable diseases. For more than a decade, she has written, edited, and provided scientific direction for grants, manuscripts, and other scientific materials, including as a freelance editor for Wiley-VCH. Turnaround time varies depending on availability.

Payment: As a Vanderbilt employee, Donna is paid by percent effort, so she needs to have a cost center number that she can charge for work performed.

Kim Korwek, PhD
kim.korwek@gmail.com
Kim has a PhD in neuroscience from Vanderbilt and seven years experience as a medical writer and editor. Editing includes refining logic/organization, improving style and flow, and clarifying meaning. Kim will also copy edit (grammar, spelling, punctuation, consistency of word choice, etc.) plus checks for adherence to journal guidelines.

Carol E. Lorenz, PhD
carol_lorenz@unc.edu
Carol brings more than a decade of grant coordination and medical writing experience to teaching teams how to systematically prepare for grant submission.

Frances. E. Likis, DrPH, NP, CNM
flikis@illuminehealthco.com
www.illuminehealthco.com

Austin Ulrich, PharmD
aulrich2018@gmail.com
www.ulrichmedicalwriting.com

Crystal Herron, PhD
crystal.herron@redwoodink.com
www.redwoodink.com

Sharese Terrell Willis, PhD
swillis@docseditingshop.com
www.docseditingshop.com

American Medical Writers Association (AMWA) Freelance Directory Search Search by Degree, Location, Keyword
https://www.amwa.org/search/custom.asp?id=4178

How to Work with a Writer of Editor
https://edgeforscholars.org/how-you-can-use-a-scientific-or-medical-writer/