Funded Research

2005-2007 Making the Connections: Principal Investigator $261,000

A two-year project funded with support from Lumina Foundation for Education. The project seeks to understand the cumulative effect of institutional and state policies on student departure rates.

2007-2008 National Report Card on Higher Education: Subcontract with Higher Education Policy Institute, $21,954.

The goal of this study is to define and measure performance of higher education in all 50 states in the areas of preparation, participation, affordability and completion.

2008-2009 State Structures for Higher Education Database: Subcontract with National Center for Higher Education Management Systems, $22,268.

In this study we classify all 50 states on the structure of their postsecondary governance and update and correct the existing state structures database.

2009-2010 Effect of Delayed Enrollment on College Completion: Subcontract with National Center for Higher Education Management Systems, $30,000.

This study is designed to answer what happens to students when they delay postsecondary enrollment. Estimates are drawn from propensity score matching using data from the Educational Longitudinal Study and the National Educational Longitudinal Study.

2010-2011 Estimates of Low-Income College Attendance via Multilevel Regression with Poststratification: Subcontract with National Center for Higher Education Management Systems, $25,000.

The goal of this study is to estimate the percent of low-income students attending higher education in all 50 states. This study will utilize micro-level data from the American Community Survey along with estimates of attendance and income from the Educational Longitudinal Study of 2002.

2014 Peabody College Small Grants $10,000

Project initiated a number of research initiatives in collaboration with Harper Community College in Illinois.

2014 Peabody College Instructional Improvement Grant $5,300

Project provided initial support for Vanderbilt's first undergraduate Data Science course.

2015 SEC Travel Award $1,500

Funding for travel to the University of Georgia's Institute for Higher Education Policy to discuss future and ongoing research projects.
