About NKPC

The Nashville Korean Presbyterian Church (NKPC) affiliated with the Presbyterian Church (USA) denomination is a vibrant and close-knit Christian community that caters primarily to a Korean-American (Korean-Speaking) congregation. With an approximate attendance of around 170 members, the church is a welcoming and culturally rich environment where individuals and families gather to worship, grow spiritually, and build meaningful relationships in the English Ministry and Young Adult Ministry as well.

Overview

NKPC is seeking a dynamic and passionate individual to serve as a Youth Pastor. The ideal candidate will be responsible for overseeing and leading the youth ministry, focusing on spiritual growth, Christian education, and fostering a vibrant community among the youth members in grades 6 to 12.

Responsibilities

Sunday Worship:

- Engage and actively participate in Sunday worship services, giving sermons, offering leadership and guidance to the youth congregation.
- Coordinate and organize youth-led services or activities to encourage involvement and spiritual development among the youth.

Christian Education:

- Develop and implement a comprehensive Christian education curriculum tailored to the needs and interests of the youth.
- Organize and lead Bible studies, discussions, and teachings to nurture a deeper understanding of faith and biblical principles.

Youth Activities and Outreach:

- Plan and execute various youth activities, including but not limited to retreats, camps, mission trips, and community service projects.
- Foster an inclusive and supportive environment for youth engagement and involvement within the church and broader community.

Mentorship and Leadership Development:

- Provide mentorship and guidance to youth members, fostering their spiritual growth, leadership skills, and personal development.
- Empower and equip youth leaders within the ministry, nurturing their potential and encouraging active participation in the church community.

Collaboration and Communication:

- Collaborate with the pastoral team, church leadership, and other ministry departments to align youth activities with the overall vision and mission of the church.
- Maintain open communication with parents/guardians, keeping them informed about youth ministry activities, progress, and upcoming events.

Qualifications

- A deep personal commitment to the Christian faith and a clear calling to work with youth.
- Bachelor's degree in theology, ministry, or a related field (Master's degree preferred).
- Previous experience in youth ministry or relevant leadership roles within a church setting.
- Strong communication, interpersonal, and organizational skills.
- Proficiency in Korean language (preferred but not mandatory).

This is a part-time or a full-time position that requires a flexible schedule, including weekends and evenings to accommodate youth events and activities. The successful candidate will have a heart for youth ministry, a passion for nurturing young individuals in their faith journey, and a desire to create an impactful and inclusive community within Nashville Korean Presbyterian Church.
