ACTIVELY ANTI-RACIST:
ACTIVITIES TO TRY WITH YOUR CHILDREN
WHO IS IN OUR CLASS?

GETTING STARTED

Trace each child's hand on a piece of paper and write their name on palm of hand

Have children write one positive thing about themselves on each finger

ENCOURAGE CONVERSATIONS

Give children a chance to think about what words may represent them

Chat with children about the words they share and the words that are unique to them!

Help children to notice the positive actions they engage in everyday, and recognize that everyone has special traits!

CONNECTIONS TO SELF-IDENTITY

Helps to recognize and appreciate differences and similarities in peers

Encourages children to engage in positive self-thought

Gives children a safe space to share their thoughts and learn from one another

CELEBRATE AND SHARE WITH US!

Hang each child's work on the wall so they can be reminded of the things they share and the ones that make them unique!

Share the idea with friends and coworkers and collaborate on different questions and topics to discuss with children!

Share your experiences and ideas with us!
