

Learning Across Vanderbilt

Full-time Vanderbilt MBA students may take courses for credit at other Vanderbilt graduate schools with approval from the office of Academic Programs. Many students choose to take interdisciplinary classes at the Law School, Divinity School, Peabody School of Education, Medical School and the Nursing School. Students generally choose to take these classes during their second year. Popular options are language courses.