VINSE INDUSTRY AFFILIATES PROGRAM

The Vanderbilt Institute of Nanoscale Science and Engineering (VINSE) has established an Industry Affiliates Program (IAP) to foster dynamic and collaborative relations with domestic and international industry leaders with the goal of advancing nanoscience/engineering research, education, and workforce development. Industry members have an opportunity to develop relationships with VINSE students and faculty at networking events, as well as to demonstrate the capabilities of their products to the VINSE community. All IAP membership funds will remain within VINSE and will be used to support VINSE students, faculty and infrastructure through self-sustaining networking events, project pilot funding, immersive education and specialized laboratory equipment.
