THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The undergraduate processional begins with a trumpet fanfare as the candidates for degrees march onto the field, school by school. Each group is preceded by a banner bearer and led by the dean and the Founder’s Medalist for the school. The candidates enter the field from two points.

PROCESSIONAL I
Entering from the southwest corner of the field is the College of Arts and Science, marching in two columns and led by:
Dean Timothy P. McNamara, followed by candidates for the degree of bachelor of arts. Their banner has a white field.

Dean Melissa Rose, Blair School of Music, followed by candidates for the degrees of bachelor of music and bachelor of musical arts. Their banner has a pink field.

Dean Krishnendu Roy, School of Engineering, followed by candidates for the degrees of bachelor of engineering and bachelor of science. Their banner has an orange field.

Dean Camilla Benbow, Peabody College, followed by participants in the Next Steps program and candidates for the degree of bachelor of science. The Peabody banner has a light blue field.

PROCESSIONAL II
After the candidates are seated, trumpets will sound a second fanfare and the next procession will enter from the southwest, led by:
Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs and Professional Education Tracey George, followed by the professors emeriti and the faculty.

PROCESSIONAL III
After the faculty have entered, a third trumpet fanfare will sound, and the final procession will enter. The order is:
Members of the Board of Trust
Officers of Administration
President of the Alumni Association Board Anu Pardeshi
Members of the Class of 1974
Professor Andrea Capizzi, chair of the Faculty Senate, carrying the mace
Chair of the Board of Trust Bruce R. Evans
Provost C. Cybele Raver
Chancellor Daniel Diermeier

The graduate and professional degree recipients of the Divinity School, the Graduate School, the Law School, the School of Medicine, the School of Nursing, Owen Graduate School of Management, and Peabody College will celebrate their Commencement in separate ceremonies.

Law School
Dean Chris Guthrie, Law School, is followed by the candidates for the degrees of master of laws and doctor of jurisprudence. Their banner has a purple field.

School of Medicine
Dean Jeffrey R. Balser, School of Medicine, is followed by the candidates for the degrees of doctor of medicine, doctor of audiology, doctor of medical physics, master of education of the deaf, master of science (speech-language pathology), master of science (applied clinical informatics), master of science in clinical investigation, master of science in medical physics, master of genetic counseling, and master of public health. Their banner has a green field.

Graduate School
Dean André Christie-Mizell, Graduate School, is followed by the candidates for the degrees of master of arts, master of science, master of fine arts, master of liberal arts and science, master of engineering, and doctor of philosophy. The banner for the doctor of philosophy has a dark blue field. The banner for the master of engineering has an orange field.

Divinity School
Dean Yolanda Pierce, Divinity School, is followed by the candidates for the degrees of doctor of ministry, master of divinity, master of theological studies, and master of theology. Their banner has a scarlet field.

Owen Graduate School of Management
Dean Thomas J. Steenburgh, Owen Graduate School of Management, is followed by the candidates for the degrees of master of business administration, master of accountancy, master of science in finance, master of marketing, and master of management in health care. Their banner has a light brown field.

Peabody College (Post-Baccalaureate Graduates)
Dean Camilla Benbow, Peabody College, is followed by the candidates for the degrees of doctor of education, master of education, and master of public policy. Their banner has a light blue field.

School of Nursing
Dean Pamela R. Jeffries, School of Nursing, is followed by the candidates for the degrees of doctor of nursing practice, master of nursing, and master of science in nursing. Their banner has an apricot field.
The Symbols and Regalia

The visual symbols of Vanderbilt University communicate our rich history and our vibrant future. The oak laurels are a traditional symbol for education as well as for strength and longevity and were inspired by motifs from the Vanderbilt family coat of arms. The initial gold “V” takes center prominence, signifying what is rare and lasting, its beveled appearance simulating the permanence of stone carving. The rays of the North Star and notches around the edge evoke the nautical compass, a reminder of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt’s background, but also a symbol of the mission of the university as a community that helps to guide lifelong potential through self-direction. Vanderbilt’s motto in the encircling banner is Crescere aude, Latin for “dare to grow.” It embodies the sentiment expressed in Vanderbilt’s alma mater, “Forward! ever be thy watchword.”

The current chair of the Faculty Senate, or the vice chair if the chair is unavailable, carries the mace, an ancient sign of authority. It is displayed on the front of the podium as the symbol of the university’s authority to confer degrees. Symbolic images that decorate the gilded metal of the mace include VU monograms, embattled shields, oak leaves and acorns, irises and magnolias.

The chancellor’s insignia of office is a silver and gilt collar that displays several emblems of the university. The parallel chains of sterling silver are surmounted by alternating Vanderbilt shields and modified Founder’s Medals, from which hangs a medallion with an impression of the seal of the university. The decagonal silver frame of the medallion symbolizes the ten schools. Trustees of the university wear black gowns distinguished by gold piping and gold velvet bars on the sleeves and the university seal on the chest panel of the gowns.

The design of the academic regalia and the colors worn are significant. Undergraduates—those receiving bachelor’s degrees—wear tassels signifying the degree they have earned: golden yellow for science, pink for music, and orange for engineering. By tradition, the bachelor of arts degree tassels are black. The distinguishing mark of the gown is the sleeve: bachelor—a long, pointed sleeve; master—an oblong sleeve open at the wrist; doctor—bell-shaped sleeve with three velvet bars. Vanderbilt candidates for the doctor of philosophy wear eight-sided velvet tams with gold tassels and a custom gown with antique gold front and back panels and an embroidered “V” on the front. Candidates for a doctoral degree other than the doctor of philosophy wear black gowns and six-sided tams.

The velvet edging of the doctoral hoods signifies whether the degree is J.D., M.D., Ed.D., D.N.P., D.Min., or Ph.D.—purple for law, green for medicine, light blue for education, apricot for nursing, scarlet for ministry, and dark blue for the doctor of philosophy, which may be earned in a number of disciplines. Masters’ hoods are edged with white for arts, brown for fine arts, gold for science, purple for law, salmon pink for public health, peacock blue for public policy, scarlet for theology, light blue for education, orange for engineering, apricot for nursing, and light brown for business. All hoods are lined with silk in colors signifying the institution granting the degree. Vanderbilt hoods are lined in gold and bear a black chevron.

The Banner Bearers

Each banner, with a field in the appropriate academic color, is decorated with the Vanderbilt logo. In recognition of Peabody’s history, a Peabody Centennial Medal in a round walnut frame is mounted above the banner. Banner bearers are:

Cameron Hill Deal for the College of Arts and Science
Jacob Wilson DuPont for Blair School of Music
Camden Magnum Ador Dionisio for the Divinity School
Jiliang Li for the School of Engineering (undergraduate)
Beatrice Gadal for the School of Engineering (masters)
Jordan Reese Jurinsky and Kartika Kusumadewi for the Graduate School
Ellen Vaughn Ward for the Law School
Hannah Merriman for the School of Nursing
Saba Rehman for the School of Medicine
Evelyn Denise Ward for Owen Graduate School of Management
Qandeel Suleman for Peabody College of Education and Human Development (undergraduate)
Jordan Kathleen Mareno and Prince NaShun Taylor for Peabody College of Education and Human Development (graduate and professional)

The Faculty Marshals

Faculty members serve as marshals who manage the academic procession. The university marshal plans the procession and the seating, and instructs the faculty and student marshals. Faculty marshals are identified by gold cords draped over their left shoulders. The marshals are:

University Marshal Cynthia B. Paschal, Senior Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education, School of Engineering; Associate Professor of Biomedical Engineering; Associate Professor of Radiology and Radiological Sciences

Ghina Absi, Assistant Professor of the Practice of Civil and Environmental Engineering

The Nichols-Chancellor’s Medal is one of the university’s highest honors and is awarded to individuals who define the 21st century and exemplify the best qualities of the human spirit. It was established by Vanderbilt Law School graduate Edward C. Nichols, Jr., and his wife, Janice, in memory of Edward Carmack Nichols and Lucile Hamby Nichols. The medal is presented at Vanderbilt University Graduates Day.

The 2024 Nichols-Chancellor’s Medal is presented to David Brooks, an internationally acclaimed journalist, writer, and commentator. For more than two decades, Brooks has written and spoken about American politics and society for some of America’s most prominent news organizations and publications. His work shapes timely conversations and, most recently, has championed unity in a polarized age.

After graduating from the University of Chicago in 1983, Brooks worked as a police reporter, then was the opinion and editorial page editor at The Wall Street Journal. He joined the Weekly Standard magazine in 1995, and since 2003 has been an op-ed columnist for The New York Times and a writer for The Atlantic. He has authored eleven books, including How to Know a Person: The Art of Seeing Others Deeply and Being Deeply Seen (Random House, 2023), and has been a commentator on PBS NewsHour, NPR’s All Things Considered, and NBC’s Meet the Press.

Brooks founded Weave: The Social Fabric Project at the Aspen Institute in 2018 to address America’s “crisis of disconnection” and rebuild broken social trust by investing in local leaders. He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and serves on the advisory board of the Vanderbilt Project on Unity and American Democracy.

THE FOUNDER'S MEDAL RECIPIENTS

Charles Dylan Hanson, from Boston, Massachusetts, is this year’s Founder’s Medalist for the College of Arts and Science. He is graduating with a bachelor of arts.

Dylan double-majored in history and computer science. A highlight of his academic experience was conducting research in the Media and Inequality Lab, where he used big data technology to investigate social inequality through the lens of political science and media studies. One of his projects began with the question, “How did COVID affect people’s opinions of Chinese food?” He scraped and analyzed millions of Yelp reviews to find the answer. On campus, he was president of Students Consulting for Nonprofit Organizations, a club that provides strategy consulting services to nonprofits and social impact organizations in the Southeast. He also created Vandy.Link, a community management platform for student clubs, and was the director of technology in Vanderbilt Student Government, for which he was awarded the Nora C. Chaffin Scholarship for service to the university. He expressed gratitude to his mother, who raised him as a single parent after his father died when Dylan was 14. Dylan completed his degree in December 2023 and has joined Bloomberg Financial Services as a software engineer. In the future, he plans to earn a J.D./MBA and launch a technology think tank/incubator for social good.

Alasdair Leslie Norman Payten, from San Francisco, California, is this year’s Founder’s Medalist for Blair School of Music. He is graduating with a bachelor of musical arts.

Alasdair double-majored in voice performance and economics. He is a Cornelius Vanderbilt Scholar, under the Sartain Lanier Leadership Program, and a member of the Eta Iota chapter of national music honor society Pi Kappa Lambda. He has made many contributions to the university’s performing arts as a member of Vanderbilt Opera Theatre, the Vanderbilt Chorale and Vanderbilt’s The Original Cast. A longtime advocate of music education, Alasdair has been a music theory tutor for Blair’s undergraduate and precollege students, as well as a teaching assistant for the Vanderbilt Youth Choirs. This past summer, he traveled to the United Kingdom as a Vanderbilt Choral Scholar to explore musical repertoire from the Renaissance period and to learn from England’s rich tradition of sacred choral music. He also participated in the InterHarmony International Music Festival, where he studied piano in the hills of Italy’s Piedmont region. After graduation, Alasdair plans to work toward expanding access to classical music and music education, a cause that has guided him in his time at Vanderbilt.

Madison Marie Albert, from North Yarmouth, Maine, is this year’s Founder’s Medalist for the School of Engineering. She is graduating with a bachelor of engineering.

Madison, who double-majored in biomedical engineering and mathematics, began looking for research opportunities as a first-year student. She was selected for the highly competitive Research Experiences for Undergraduates program. Her REU project in applied mathematics modeled bone cells. During her sophomore year, William Grissom, associate professor of biomedical engineering and her academic adviser, reached out with an opportunity to join his MRI lab. Madison found that MRI research provided the perfect combination of clinical relevance and computational work. She has learned more and more about MRI, and the potential to never stop learning drives her desire to pursue research as a career. Her honors include the Case School of Engineering Swanger Graduate Fellowship and a Goldwater Scholarship. Her most meaningful service experience during college was being the rector for the University Catholic Awakening Retreat in 2023, with about 150 college students from across Davidson County attending. She says her faith has grown significantly through involvement with University Catholic. After graduation, Madison will pursue a doctorate in biomedical engineering at Case Western Reserve University. And she will continue her research with Professor Grissom to develop pulse optimization tools for MRI.

Morgan Anne Heath-Powers, from Reno, Nevada, is this year’s Founder’s Medalist for Peabody College. She is graduating with a bachelor of science.

Morgan majored in human and organizational development, with an emphasis in health and human services and a minor in Spanish for the professions. She was a Cornelius Vanderbilt Scholar and a Peabody Honors Scholar, immersing in academics, research, and service on campus and beyond. She also was a Pugh-Hernández Scholar, receiving support for a Maymester backpacking trip across Spain through the Department of Spanish and Portuguese. While she enrolled at Vanderbilt with the intention to pursue a career in business, her heart was captured by courses in neuroscience, medical anthropology, and health care service delivery to diverse populations. Through another course at Vanderbilt, she was trained as a Spanish medical interpreter, sparking her passion for meeting the health care needs of diverse patient populations. Throughout her collegiate experience, Morgan dedicated much of her time to volunteering and refining her skills with organizations such as Siloam Health, a Nashville nonprofit bringing comprehensive, whole-person health care to the uninsured, underserved, and culturally marginalized. As Morgan grew in her determination to pursue a career in health care, she stepped into leadership as mentorship coordinator and then co-president of the Vanderbilt Pre-Nursing Society, empowering fellow students along the same path. After graduation, Morgan looks forward to continuing her education to become a clinician who serves individuals and communities through primary care focused on prevention and whole-person wellness. She is grateful to the deans of Undergraduate Student Affairs, Vanderbilt's multiple student support organizations, and her incredible professors for their instrumental support, care, and belief in her throughout the past four years. She extends her thanks to her parents, brother, extended family, and friends, whose love and encouragement have propelled her to this point and will embolden her in all her future endeavors.

Sarah Moore, from Gaithersburg, Maryland, is this year's Founder's Medalist for the Divinity School. She is graduating with a master of divinity.

Sarah earned a bachelor of science in biology and global health at Georgetown University. At Vanderbilt she studied ministry with a concentration in chaplaincy. Through her field education placement at Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt, she developed a deep love for pediatric chaplaincy, supporting children and their families with the unique emotional and spiritual needs that arise in the hospital. She was recognized by the pediatric medicine nursing staff for her dedication to quality care for patients and families. Courses in bioethics and in death and dying influenced how she approaches her work in the hospital and in caring for families. She received honors for her degree project, “This Woman's Work: Accounts of Bearing Witness, Spiritual Care, and Special Space on the NICU” Sarah is grateful to the spiritual care team at Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt, who mentored her for the past two years while she served as a student chaplain. After graduation she will move to the Pacific Northwest to practice her vocation in pediatric chaplaincy.

Branson Thomas Horn, from Birmingham, Alabama, is this year's Founder's Medalist for Owen Graduate School of Management. He is graduating with a master of business administration.

Strategy and health care were the concentrations for Branson's MBA studies. He earned a bachelor of science at the University of Alabama, where he double-majored in finance and economics, with a minor in social innovation and leadership. At Vanderbilt he was honored as a Dean's Scholar, a Bruce D. Henderson Scholar, and an Ingram Scholar. Two influential courses for him were Healthcare Immersion, taught by Professor Emeritus of Economics and Strategy Larry Van Horn, and Launching the Venture, taught by Professor of the Practice of Management Michael Burcham. Healthcare Immersion exposed Branson to many leaders at the cutting edge of their fields in health care business. Launching the Venture solidified his interest in entrepreneurship and working with growth-stage companies. Branson was president of the Venture and Entrepreneurship Club, where he worked to foster a better understanding of Nashville's entrepreneurship scene in the Owen community. He also enjoyed being a teaching assistant for an intensive learning module for first-year MBA students. It was especially rewarding to help those with no business background gain confidence in their accounting and finance skill sets and continue their momentum at Owen. He is grateful for the support of his wife, Kelly Severino Horn, and he follows in the footsteps of her many family members who are Vanderbilt alumni. After graduation, Branson will participate in Nashville's thriving entrepreneurship community.

Robert Christian Dunn, of Columbus, Ohio, is this year's Founder's Medalist for the Law School. He is graduating with a doctor of jurisprudence.

Christian is a second-generation Vanderbilt Law School graduate, following in the footsteps of his father, a 1991 Law School alumnus. He also is a Double 'Dore, earning a bachelor of arts in 2018. He has fond memories of two classes on author James Joyce taught by English Professor Roy Gottfried. Dunn credits those courses with his skill reading and analyzing texts. During law school, Christian was executive editor of the Vanderbilt Law Review. He was honored with Scholastic Excellence (Book) awards in Constitutional Law I and II, Civil Procedure, Corporations and Business Entities, Securities Regulation, and Mergers and Acquisitions. One of his favorite spring and summer activities in Nashville has been floating the Harpeth River, and he became involved doing volunteer pro bono legal work with the Harpeth Conservancy. His first foray into environmental law was deeply meaningful. Not only has he worked on behalf of some of Nashville's best natural assets, but he also discovered a real enjoyment for environmental legal work. A previous volunteer experience that left a lasting impression was helping at an after-school facility in his hometown for children from disadvantaged homes. He witnessed the real difference the organization made in the lives of these children, many of whom became the first in their families to attend college. After graduation, Christian will move to New York City to begin practice as an associate at Cravath, Swaine & Moore.
Lucy Magill Alsip Vollbrecht, from Flagstaff, Arizona, is this year’s Founder’s Medalist for the Graduate School. She is graduating with a doctor of philosophy in philosophy.

Lucy is a specialist in social epistemology, which is the study of how knowledge is produced and transmitted in group and social contexts. She earned a bachelor of arts in philosophy at Whitman College. Her interests include ancient philosophy, argumentation theory, and feminist theories of knowledge. She has a forthcoming article, “Can Feminists be Skeptics?” being published by Southwest Philosophy Review. Associate Professor of Philosophy Scott Aikin, Lucy’s adviser, says that “her research, beyond the dissertation, has carried her to the question of the relevance of the ancients to contemporary philosophical and social questions.” Her honors include the Dean’s Fellowship Award, the Publication Excellence Prize, and the Ethics Dissertation Prospectus Prize. She also received high marks for her teaching. Lucy was a member of the Philosophy Graduate Student Association Teaching Committee and helped organize the Philosophy Graduate Student Colloquium. She was also co-chair of Vanderbilt Minorities and Philosophy. After graduation she begins a postdoctoral fellowship at Washington University in St. Louis, where she will focus on political argument, policy, and civility.

Teresa J. Cagle, from Fayetteville, Georgia, is this year’s Founder’s Medalist for the School of Nursing. She is graduating with a doctor of nursing practice.

Teresa, a psychiatric–mental health nurse practitioner, earned a master of science and bachelor of science in nursing at Georgia College & State University. She worked as a registered nurse in surgical and emergency department services, the latter during COVID-19. She is a member of Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing. She completed a quality improvement project that addressed analyzing the effectiveness and utility of a pharmacogenomic-guided approach to personalized medication management for depressive disorders. She has been instrumental in proposing the addition of a specialty pharmacy within her outpatient clinic to better serve her community’s vulnerable population. Teresa has a focus on nursing education and has incorporated precepting students in the outpatient clinic, understanding that the shortage of mental health professionals is at a critical level. As a doctoral-prepared nurse practitioner, she is the strong voice for those affected by mental health disorders, which have risen sharply among young people. Her doctoral studies instilled a passionate desire to advocate for mental health curriculum in Georgia school systems. She volunteers in her hometown with the Trilith Foundation, which strives to enrich lives mentally, physically, spiritually, and relationally. Her involvement there puts her in a position to influence key stakeholders invested in her community’s mental health. Teresa believes her academic journey, combined with her calling, has led to greater opportunities for mental health awareness, patient safety, nursing education, medical missions, patient advocacy, and innovative change.

Sachin Kumar Aggarwal, from Houston, Texas, is this year’s Founder’s Medalist for the School of Medicine. He is graduating with a doctor of medicine.

Sachin earned a bachelor of science at Johns Hopkins University, where he studied biomedical engineering. His path to medicine was shaped by multiple influences, including his mother’s completion of medical school in India. She demonstrated a passion for education and growth, ultimately becoming a teacher. Sachin and his family organically formed their community of people after immigrating to Houston from England when he was a toddler. Among those family friends, he was inspired by physicians who exemplified values of caring, compassion and respect. This combination of influences remains at the core of his passion for medicine and health care. At Vanderbilt, Sachin maintained outstanding academics while being a consistent leader and role model for his peers. He held multiple volunteer and leadership positions at the student-run Shade Tree Clinic, which provides free, high-quality care to uninsured and underinsured individuals in the Nashville area. He devoted more than 20 hours a week to directing the clinic operations to maintain high-quality care while working on projects to expand offerings and enhance the clinic’s sustainability. He showed initiative in a variety of volunteer efforts, including the creation of health education videos and presentations for incarcerated and formerly incarcerated people during the COVID-19 pandemic. Sachin received the 2021 Robert F. Miller Award for Community Service and Engagement. He has matched into residency in internal medicine at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas. He hopes to continue addressing health equity through direct patient care and innovation at different levels of health care interactions.
